EIZ - obecné trendy

- Problém především managementu zdrojů, jednotná rozhraní=brány pro e-zdroje, časopisy, holdings, provázání bibliografických zdrojů s fulltexty a rozsáhlé digitální knihovny, (vyhledávač nad EIZ MU)
- Multilevel linking (LinSolver od Ovid, SWETSWISE od Swets Informational Services, SFX a Metalib od Exlibris)
- Personalizované nastavení info bran „my library“
- profesionální EIZ všude na světě téměř shodné tituly

User Education

Face-to-face training

Training in the use of the library, its services and resources is primarily offered face-to-face in the form of presentations, seminars, practicals and demonstrations. Some courses are of general interest, others focus on specific subject areas or are talks on and demonstrations of electronic information resources.

Individuals may attend any presentation without booking, but advance notice of groups of ten or more would be helpful. Places for Newton Hands-on are limited. Booking is required and can be done online. In case of difficulties, contact the Reference Department, University Library, Tel.: (01223) 333016/35, User-education@lib.cam.ac.uk.

Online support

In addition online support is available for subject area seminars and electronic resources. UL course hand-outs and guides as well as documentation offered by providers of databases can be downloaded and printed. Support ranges from database guides and exercise sheets to online tutorials. Most guides are in pdf format and Adobe Acrobat Reader plugin is required. Some guides are only available on the providers' websites and access restrictions may apply. Some online tutorials require recent versions of browsers or additional plugins, such as Flash, although instructions on how to download and install these is usually given.
