Accupuncture in Medicie

An emerging medical treatment and acupuncture is now being recognised & prescribed in many countries

Acupuncture in Medicine is a bi-monthly scientific and clinical journal aimed at Western-trained physicians and other health professionals, and uses the prevailing understanding of neurophysiology and anatomy to interpret the effects of acupuncture. The Journal largely restricts its published articles to this Western approach. Clinical reports of the effects of traditional acupuncture will be considered, and theoretical aspects that are evidence-based. AiM is owned by the British Medical Acupuncture Society \(BMAS\) and is published by BMJ Group.

BMJ Supportive & Palliative Care

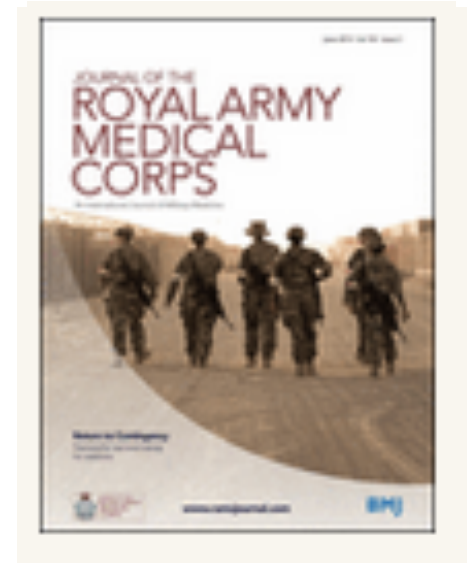

An ageing global population means that caring for the elderly is a key part of modern healthcare, and this title specialises in all aspects of the subject.

Published quarterly in print and continuously online, BMJ Supportive & Palliative Care aims to connect many disciplines and specialties throughout the world by providing high quality, clinically relevant research, reviews, comment, information and news of international importance. We hold an inclusive view of supportive and palliative care research and we are able to call on expertise to critique the whole range of methodologies within the subject, including those working in transitional research, clinical trials, epidemiology, behavioural sciences, ethics and health service research.

Journal of the Royal Army Medical Corps

JRAMC - essential for any clinician and medical student interested in the field of emergency medicine. A partner to Emergency Medical Journal in the BMJ Collection.

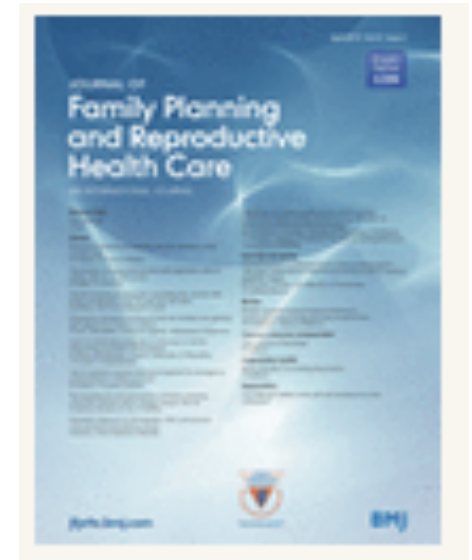

The Journal of the Royal Army Medical Corps aims to publish high quality research, reviews and case reports, as well as other invited articles, which pertain to the practice of military medicine in its broadest sense. It welcomes material from all ranks, services and corps wherever they serve as well as submissions from beyond the military. It is intended not only to propagate current knowledge and expertise but also to act as an institutional memory for the practice of medicine within the military.

Impact factor: 0.811

Journal of Family Planning and Reproductive Health Care

JFPRH - a key title with regard to population issues globally and other aspects of Reproductive Healthcare.

Journal of Family Planning and Reproductive Health Care (JFPRHC) is a peer reviewed journal that aims to improve reproductive and sexual health nationally and internationally. The journal publishes high quality research and information relevant to clinical care, service delivery, training and education in the field of contraception and reproductive/sexual health. JFPRHC is published by BMJ on behalf of the Faculty of Sexual and Reproductive Healthcare of the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists. JFPRHC is also endorsed by MEDFASH.
