The screenshot shows the Brill Online Books and Journals website. The header is yellow and contains the Brill logo on the left, the text "Over three centuries of scholarly publishing" and "Brill Online Books and Journals" in the center, and a shopping cart icon, "FAQ", and "Contact us" on the right. Below the header is a search bar with a dropdown menu set to "All Content" and a blue "Search" button. A navigation bar below the search bar contains links for "Home", "E-Books", "Journals", "All titles (A-Z)", "Subjects", "Collections", and "Imprints".

On the left side, there is a "Subjects" section with a list of categories: African Studies, American Studies, Ancient Near East & Egypt, Art & Architecture, Asian Studies, Biblical Studies, Biology, Classical Studies, History, Human Rights & Humanitarian Law, International Law, and International Relations.

In the center, there is a yellow box with the text "Brill Online Books and Journals" and a description: "Brill Online Books and Journals is among the richest scholarly sources of its kind, with the full text of over 175,000 book chapters and journal articles, covering the Humanities, International Law and Biology."

Below this box is a "New publications" section featuring a book cover and the title "Unity in Connectivity?" by "Author: Vitit Muntarbhorn".

On the right side, there are social media icons for Twitter, YouTube, Facebook, and LinkedIn. Below these is a login section with the text "Your access is provided by: BRILL" and a link to "Register to create your user account, or sign in if you have an existing account". There is a "Sign-out" link and a "Sign In" button. At the bottom right, there is a link to "Sign in via your institution".

A.H.M. Jones and the Later Roman Empire

THE JAVASI and Heraclius were not and Maximian, and are thus parallel legions, the Solanus and Martianus, which Diocletian's two junior colleagues Diocletian, like Septimius Severus, were not committed to frontier defence but he used the same argument to name, the Dacenses, which he thought they were, as it happens, but for another not from the goddess directly, but from the Via Egnatia, where they must have been typical of the hinterland garrisons. The same is true of another unit, the Crispiani, which Jones twice calls "Crispiani", which Jones twice calls "Crispiani", which Jones twice calls "Crispiani", who derive from Crispiana, a station near Carnuntum. This is one of eleven, two others of which also contribute to the Achenses, and Cimbricis the Javasi Roman unit titles can be

Brill's New Pauly

Edited by: Hubert Cancik and Helmuth Schneider (Antiquity) and Manfred Landfester (Classical Tradition).
English translation edited by Christine F. Salazar (Antiquity) and Francis G. Gentry (Classical Tradition)

Brill's New Pauly is the English edition of the authoritative Der Neue Pauly, published by Verlag J.B. Metzler since 1996. The encyclopaedic coverage and high academic standard of the work, the interdisciplinary and contemporary approach and clear and accessible presentation have made the New Pauly the unrivalled modern reference work for the ancient world. The section on Antiquity of Brill's New Pauly are devoted to Greco-Roman antiquity and cover more than two thousand years of history, ranging from the second millennium BC to early medieval Europe. Special emphasis is given to the interaction between Greco-Roman culture on the one hand, and Semitic, Celtic, Germanic, and Slavonic culture, and ancient Judaism, Christianity, and Islam on the other hand. The section on the Classical Tradition is uniquely concerned with the long and influential aftermath of antiquity and the process of continuous reinterpretation and revaluation of the ancient heritage, including the history of classical scholarship. Brill's New Pauly research and brings together specialist knowledge are elucidated with maps and illustrations and t new coalitions. The aim was to exert hegemonic power over the complete 'country' in order to be entered into the 'Sumerian King List', a compilation originating at the end of the 3rd millennium, which insinuated that the country had always been ruled by one city or by one dynasty. This was achieved by presenting demonstrably contemporaneous dynasties as a succession of ruling families. This fiction and the merging of the individual city panthea into a comprehensive pantheon contributed to creating a southern Mesopotamian koine which encompassed Sumerian-speaking groups as well as Semitic popul

Book History Online

Edited by: Matthew McLean, University of St Andrews

Book History Online (BHO) is the international bibliography in the field of book and library history. It provides a comprehensive survey of all scholarly publications written from a historical perspective. Included are monographs, articles and reviews dealing with the history of the printed book, its arts, crafts, techniques and equipment, its economic, social and cultural environment, as well as its production, distribution, preservation and description. BHO is published in partnership with the University of St Andrews and the Society for the History of Authorship, Reading, and Publishing (SHARP).
