PART I

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Intelligence Services

In our Review of October - November 1946 we reported that a reorganisation of the Czechoslovak Intelligence Services was under consideration. We are now reliably informed that the Government has agreed in principle to the establishment of an intelligence directorate as part of the Prime Minister's office. General BARTIK, who is still considering the offer made to him, is demanding the control of Military Intelligence as well as that of the Ministry of the Interior. Colonel REIGIN, chief of the O. B. Z., opposes this control, but he is very unpopular and may be forced into accepting it, although he is thought to have Soviet backing. Meanwhile a beginning has been made with the reorganisation of the Intelligence Services of the Ministry of the Interior (Section 2/VIII) by the dismissal of Captain POKORNI, who had succeeded General BARTIK as Head of that section.

POKORNI's activities as well as those of some of his colleagues have been criticised both in Parliament and the Press and the dismissal of at least one other high official is believed to be imminent.

REGRADED

2. Communist Party

a) Vělav KOPECKY, the Communist Minister of the Interior, is reported to have made the following remarks regarding the difficulties now confronting the Party

"Some of our most important sections, the followers of the old line and the radical youth groups, want to force us to return to an extreme point of view. To do so would mean that we should once again represent only the working class of the population and lose the bulk of our now sympathisers from other classes. If we wish to preserve ourselves as a national party, we have no choice but to rid ourselves of our extreme elements. Our goal is not revolution but socialisation and if we can achieve this by peaceful and democratic means, we intend to do so."
